Note:

Please use this guide as a reference size guide only. If your measurement is in between two sizes, order the larger size. Let's say your all around chest measurement is 41.5", then size L will be the best fitting shirt size.

How to measure: Chest

Measure the fullest part of your chest by placing the measuring tape below your armpit all around the chest. Ensure the measuring tape is not too tight to restrict breathing and not too loose that it slips off. Please stand comfortably when you take your measurements to find your accurate size and make sure the tape is evenly placed all around the chest. Let's say your all around chest measurement is 40.5", then size M will be the best fitting shirt size.
